"He is an excellent fit for our firm as we continue to build momentum in the US with new partners, new products, and a commitment to accelerate our US investments and distribution network in 2019 and beyond."

Before joining iM Global Partner, Rijhwani worked for JP Morgan Asset Management, The Hartford Mutual Funds, James Alpha Management and Aquila Group of Funds.

"We continue to invest significantly in building out our US platform, having added five partners and two products so far, with a plan to continue to build out our US staff over the next few years," adds Seeley. "We look for unique and independent boutique investment firms who can benefit from a strong distribution platform and a strategic partnership that can provide multi-asset, multi-channel distribution and sub-advisory services."
